

Phone Land Helps Small Business Owners Build a Communication Solution

The Fast, Easy, Fun Way to Pick Your Phones, Software and Deployment

Alpharetta, GA— Intorrent Technologies, a leading provider of communications solutions for small- and medium-sized businesses, knows that running a company can be stressful. So many things can distract you from your core business—administration, bills, and, yes, managing your phone connections. Wouldn't it be nice to have a fast, easy and (dare we say) FUN way to learn about affordable, flexible phone solutions?

Yes, it would be nice. With that conclusion in mind, Intorrent created "Phone Land," a game that helps small business owners make smart decisions about every component of a communications solution. Inspired by the light and breezy board games of our youth, Phone Land explains the options for buying the actual phones, phone lines (SIP Trunking), choosing a software (specifically, open source) and deployment. The game has only one rule: It's your business, so it's always your turn!

A PDF of Phone Land is available at www.intorrent.com. If you'd like a print copy of Phone Land, business owners (and phone-related board game enthusiasts) are encouraged to contact Intorrent at connect@intorrent.com.
